What would you put in a moat? If I were a king, I would put in eels that glow. The eels would roam in the water. Next, I would add toads that have slime on their coats. They would croak like they were mad. Then, I would add hot coal. "Stay back!" I would say. "I boast the best moat in the land!" The End.

I Can Roar!

Rick was a cub. "I like to roam!" said Rick. When the sun rose, Rick ran in the grass. "It is not time to roam," said Rick's mom. "You are not grown yet. You must stay with the pride." Rick was mad.

"Do not moan," said Rick's mom. "Us lions are so big, we do not need to roam like the other animals. We can roar!" "OK mom," said Rick. "I will stay with the pride. I will ROAR!" Rick could boast a low, deep roar. The End.

Blow in the Wind

I can see the leaves blow in the wind. I run to play with them. They blow fast. I roam in the grass to pick them up. I make a big, big pile. Then, I soak in the sun. It is time to jump! I run and leap into the pile. I set a leaf in my hair. It is like a bow. I show mom. "You glow my sweet Jill," says mom. The End.
