Pam's home was way up high. On top, there was a light that was like the sun. Pam had fun at home. She could see ships sail down the coast. "I have the best job," said Pam.

One night, there was a lone ship. Pam could not see it well. It was just a dot. The ship went to the right. Then, it went back to the left. "They might be lost," said Pam with fright. "I will help them."

Pam set the light on bright. "I will shine the beam on the ship," said Pam. The light went flash, flash, flash. The ship went toward the light. Then, a big wave came. "The ship is on the rocks," said Pam with a sigh.

Pam got in a row boat. She went to the ship as fast as she could. They were safe. Pam let them stay in her home. Pam can save a lot of people. The End.
