

In Flight at Night

It is night. The wind blows. There are many animals that like the night. In a cave, bats wake up. They see that the bright sun has set. One bat screams in a high pitch. His scream hits the trees and comes back.

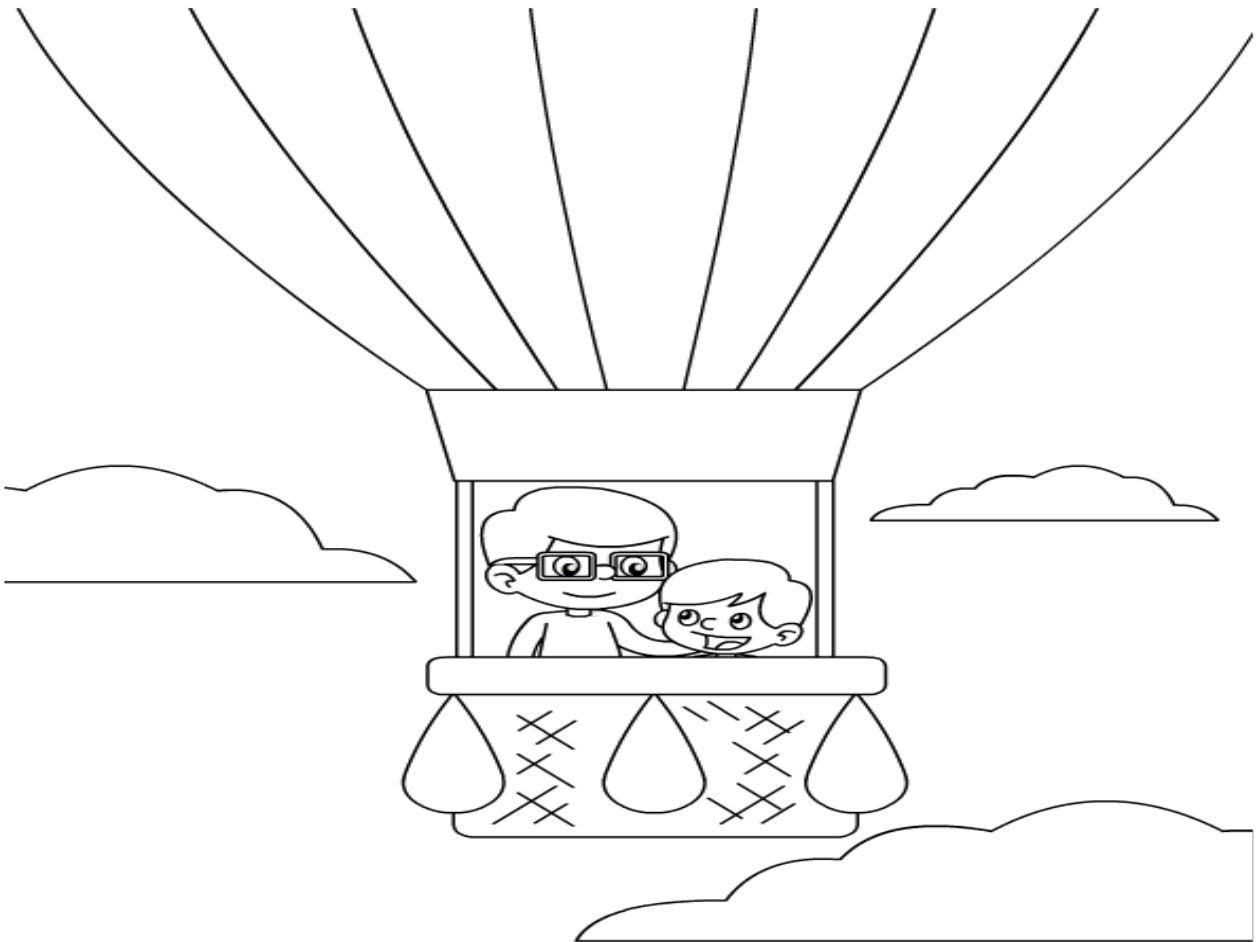

It is his sight. With his yell, the bat can see. The bat is in flight. He soars high to catch a bug.

At last, the bat hangs from a tree. The End.

Up High

I am on a trip with dad. We get in a hot air balloon. I am pale with fright. "It's fun," says dad. "We might get to see the bright sea and the green hills." We rise high in the air. I hang on. We feel the slight breeze. I see the light of the sun on the sea. The trees stretch up high into the air. It is such a grand sight. "This is fun!" I tell dad. The End.

What a Sight!

Mom, dad and I are on a trip. It is still light. A lot of animals roam the land. Cubs hug their mom tight. What a sight! Zebras run in fright. They do not want to be near the big lions. Giraffes reach up high. They munch on the bright green trees. Crocodiles fight with all their might. They are big and strong. The light dims. It is dusk. I sigh. I do not want the trip to end. The End.
